

Press Release

Trade Nation, a leading financial services provider, is pleased to announce its headline sponsorship of the IX Trader Show, which takes place in London, Friday 27th September 2024.

This exclusive event is designed specifically to answer the needs of today's retail traders in an evolving industry landscape, providing them with valuable guidance and resources for success.

Trade Nation is committed to making various asset classes accessible to as many people as possible. This commitment includes efforts to democratize markets, promote financial literacy, and offer affordable and accessible trading opportunities worldwide.

The IX Trader Show offers traders a wide range of trading opportunities, expert insights, and interactive sessions. Trade Nation encourages traders to attend the event and take advantage of the valuable knowledge and resources available to them.

Join Trade Nation at the IX Trader Show and take the first step towards a successful trading future.

The banner features a black background with green geometric shapes on the right side. On the left, the IX Trader Show logo is displayed above the event details: 'Grand Connaught Rooms, London' and 'Friday, 27th September 2024'. To the right of the logo is the Trade Nation logo with the text 'Sponsored by'. Below the event details is a row of five green dots. The main text reads: 'The IX Trader Show is the UK's 'go-to' event for active traders and investors.' At the bottom right, the website 'www.ixtradershow.com' is listed. The right side of the banner shows a photograph of two men in business attire talking at a trade show booth. In the background, a sign says 'BE YOUR TRADING GAME'.

Andrew Merry, Chief Commercial Officer, Trade Nation says “The IX Trader Show echoes Trade Nation’s commitment to improving retail trader education. The range of expert speakers offer guidance in many trading classes from traditional stocks to forex and commodities and the event also offers an essential face-to-face hub for traders to mingle and network with educators and find good mentors. We look forward to working with Simon and the team again in 2024.”

Simon Campbell, CEO IX Media says “We are thrilled to have the support of Trade Nation for the IX Trader Show in 2024. Working with a globally regulated broker in the UK is so important for traders just starting out to be secure in the knowledge their assets are safe and also to have a wide choice of products to trade. We are excited to work with the team at Trade Nation in 2024.”
